

Remarks:

Hi,

We are adding a billboard feature to our product.
At first it won't have authorization/authentication so anyone will be able to post messages.

This is the design we got from Frank our designer.
It would be great If you and your team could finish the server and client by Thursday.
We will have a stand-up meeting on Wednesday.

The implementation is pretty straightforward. Anyone can add messages to the board by clicking the '+' button in the bottom of the screen.

If you have the time, geek out and add the ability to delete messages

Best,
Mark,

Remarks:

Frank didn't have the time to place all of the relevant information in the document. So, for places you don't have a specific size/color try to get as close to the mockup as you can.

All fonts are available on Google web fonts

Billboard mockup – mobile behavior

Remarks:

We must support mobile phones, so make sure your implementation is responsive and check it on your mobile

Billboard mockup – clicking the add message button

Remarks:

All fields in the form are mandatory
Empty field submission should fire an alert with the message "All fields are mandatory"

Clicking the 'X' button will cancel the operation and close the add new message form.

Clicking the  should add a new message on the server and reload the page.

If you have the time please try to avoid refreshing the whole page

Billboard mockup – Empty state

Remarks:

It would be nice if the '+' inside the button would grow and shrink like a heart beat

And if you can unleash the ninja within please add the ability to add comments for each message (sorry, no mockup for that so try to follow the general design guidelines)

Good luck
